Volunteering within the Heart of Teesdale Landscape Partnership

There are a huge number of volunteering opportunities within the Heart of Teesdale Landscape Partnership, whether directly with the Partnership itself or through one of its partner organisations. A brief summary of these opportunities is outlined on the next page.

This handbook details the procedures which have been put in place for volunteers reporting directly to the Partnership, however it may also be used by partner organisations as a basis for working with their own volunteers. As such, it can be provided in an electronic format so that forms can be adapted to suit the needs of each organisation.

The Partnership has two Volunteering Officers, each with a different thematic focus, who work closely together to develop, manage and co-ordinate the Partnership's volunteering programme, recruit and work directly with volunteers, communities, partner agencies and projects.

All queries relating to volunteering within the Partnership should be directed to one of the Volunteering Officers:

Honia Devlin
Volunteering Officer
- Culture and Heritage

Karen Collins

Please note that both these Officers work part time and spend much time away from the office, so please allow several days for a response to any query.
